

Note Taking

ROMANTICISM

Take notes to help you remember key terms and concepts relating to romanticism. Fill in the blanks or follow the directions to complete these notes.

1. The romantic period in British literature was dominated by the following five poets:

2. On the preceding list, put a star or an asterisk next to the names of the poets who were considered the “second generation” of romantic poets.

3. The poetry collection titled _____ is considered the beginning of the romantic movement in Britain. It was published in _____ and written by _____ and _____.

4. Using the chart, classify the following traits as either neoclassical or romantic:

- glorifies the individual
 - values imagination and emotion
 - values tradition and order
 - addresses objective social issues
 - witty and satirical
 - lyrical and expressive
- exalts nature
 - respects established institutions
 - celebrates everyday life
 - explores the supernatural and exotic
 - values reason and common sense
 - imitates classical forms

Neoclassical	Romantic