NOTE TAKING AND PLAGIARISM

As you read and take notes from many sources, do not use the ideas of others without giving them credit. One of the best ways to take notes is by using source cards.

Directions: Make one source card for each of the sources you plan to use in your research. Assign each source a number and write that number in the top right-hand corner. Then record the author and/or editor (if given), the title of the publication or Web page, and the date of publication. See pages 1438–1439 in your textbook for the information you should include on source cards for Web sites, books, encyclopedias, and periodical articles. Use the back of this sheet if you need to.
